Subject: Legal Notice regarding Dispute

Under the instructions and authority from my client Isha Tripathi, residing at wretfghn, Mobile: 8767919866, I hereby address you as follows:

That my client and you entered into a transaction/understanding, as described: The transaction in question pertains to a contract for the supply of goods, specifically, a consignment of electronic components, which my client, Isha Tripathi, had ordered from your company, XYZ Enterprises Pvt. Ltd. The order was placed on the understanding that the goods would be delivered in a timely and efficient manner, and in good condition.

That my client fulfilled all obligations as agreed under the understanding/transaction. She made the payment in full and on time, as per the terms of the contract, and provided all necessary details for the delivery of the goods.

That you were obligated to act as per the understanding but failed to do so. Despite the payment being made and the delivery details being provided, the goods were not delivered on the agreed date. Furthermore, the goods that were eventually delivered were not in good condition, with many components being damaged or defective.

That despite repeated follow-ups, no satisfactory resolution was offered. My client made numerous attempts to contact your company to resolve the issue, but was met with indifference and unresponsiveness.

That such failure indicates breach of trust. Your company's failure to fulfill its obligations under the contract, and its subsequent indifference to my client's attempts to resolve the issue, constitutes a clear breach of trust.

That my client has suffered losses and inconvenience, as described: Due to the delay in delivery and the defective condition of the goods, my client has suffered significant financial losses. She had to source the components from another supplier at a higher cost, and the delay caused a disruption in her business operations, leading to further losses.

That your conduct constitutes a legal wrong under applicable Indian laws, including but not limited to the Indian Contract Act, 1872. Your failure to fulfill the terms of the contract and your subsequent indifference to my client's attempts to resolve the issue constitute a breach of contract under Section 37 and Section 39 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

That my client hereby demands that the dispute be resolved immediately by the replacement of the defective goods and compensation for the financial losses suffered due to the delay and the need to source the components from another supplier.

That if you fail to act within 7 days from the receipt of this notice, legal proceedings (civil and/or criminal) will be initiated at your risk.

That you shall be liable for all litigation costs, damages, and consequences arising from your failure to comply.

That this legal notice serves as a final opportunity for resolution.

This legal notice is issued to you without prejudice to all other legal rights and remedies available to my client under the law.

Kindly treat this as a final and urgent notice.
